16-year old alleged car thief dies after 15-mile police chase

Police believe youth entered Southport home, stole car keys, then drove away in family car

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A 16-year old car theft suspect died after a car crash early Saturday morning. He had been pursued about 15 miles by West Sacramento and Sacramento police after the theft was reported.

The incident started at about 2:05 a.m., when a family on Gadwall Court discovered their 2000 Toyota Corolla was being driven away from the home. A 68-year old male resident called police. The house is part of a neighborhood in Southport, west of the Jefferson/Linden intersection.

"They heard the car leaving," said Lieutenant Tod Sockman of the West Sacramento Police Department. "They found out later that somebody had entered the house when they were home, stole the keys for the car, and went outside and took off in the car."

West Sacramento patrol cars responded to the call – and one of them spotted the stolen Corolla near the U.S. 50 onramp at Jefferson Boulevard.

Police "activated their lights and tried to stop him," said Sockman. "Once the lights went on, the suspect took off. He was driving at 45 miles per hour (on Jefferson) and they were trying to catch him, but he made no attempt to stop."

Three West Sacramento patrol cars were joined in the pursuit by Sacramento police.

Still at "moderate" speeds of 55-65 miles per hour, the Corolla went from U.S. 50 to southbound I-5, exiting at Florin Road. The pursuit then reached speeds of up to 80 miles per hour, said Sockman, as the young suspect traveled on Florin Road, Pocket Road and Riverside Boulevard. Near Pocket Road and Greenhaven, police used "spike strips" to try to disable the suspect's tires – flattening one of them, said Sockman.

Eastbound near Stockton Boulevard, the suspect – still speeding – "shifted from the number-two lane to the number-one lane abruptly, and lost control," Sockman added. The car hit a power pole with a concrete base.

"The car started on fire," said Sockman. "The cops used four fire extinguishers to try to extinguish it. He wasn't wearing a seat belt. Both air bags deployed. After they couldn't put out the fire, they pulled him from the car and transported him to the hospital."

The youth died at the hospital.

Sockman declined to identify him due to his age, but the Sacramento County Coroner's office identified him as 16-year old Elijah Smith of West Sacramento.

Police had not yet learned if the teen had any kind of criminal record.

"It is unfortunate," said Sockman. "The officers didn't know who they were chasing. They knew they were chasing a stolen car."

Hit and run death ruled 'second degree murder' by Yolo jury

A 42-year old Bay Area man has been given a sentence of "19 years to life" in state prison for second degree murder and other charges after a hit-and-run accident on West Capitol Avenue earlier this year.

According to the office of Yolo County District Attorney Jeff Reisig, Kevin King was "high on cocaine and marijuana" and driving about 50 miles per hour on the street when he hit pedestrian Ist Sharma in a crosswalk.

King then left the scene. A West Sacramento firefighter, Mark Cullison, was administering aid nearby for an unrelated incident, and unsuccessfully tried to get King to stop.

A Port of West Sacramento police officer, Danny Maynard, heard a radio broadcast about the accident and saw King abandon the van off of Industrial Boulevard and leave on foot, said the D.A.'s office. Maynard alerted city police, who caught King.

King was convicted by a jury in November of second degree murder, gross vehicular manslaughter while intoxicated, felony driving under the influence, and hit and run. It was his fourth conviction for DUI since 1997, said Reisig's office.

Sentence was passed by Judge Timothy L. Fall of Yolo County Superior Court.

'Sea Scouts' seek young recruits

The West Sacramento Sea Scouts, an organization dedicated to teaching boating skills, teamwork and discipline to young people from age 13-21, is building its fleet and attempting to build up its ranks of young people.

New "skipper" of the program is Nate Eckler of West Sacramento. He said it is "one of the best youth programs that no one knows about."

Thanks to donations, the Sea Souts now have a 1960 Owens 27-foot cabin cruiser and a 1953 27-foot Chris Craft cabin cruiser, both docked at the Sacramento Marina across the river from West Sacramento.

They also have a 27-foot 1987 Oday sailboat, on a trailer in Southport at the moment. "It's a great boat – an offshore sailer," said Eckler.

And there's a 25-foot Catalina sailboat in the Delta with a hole in its side, "waiting for when we'll be able to bring her back to life," said Eckler.

The boats come to the program with varying degrees of repair required. Regarding the 27-foot Owens cruiser, for example, Eckler said "the kids have done a lot of work on it."

The Chris Craft, on the other hand "was in a pretty 'turn key' state for us. The owner bought it and decided he didn't want it, and had a bunch of work done before giving it to us."

The kids help with the repairs and maintenance – getting hands-on experience in woodworking and engine repair as well as seamanship, safety, first aid and sailing.

"I love sailing," said Scout Dana Eckler. "I love being at the helm and I love being in charge."

Dana Eckler said she was proud of helping to bring home an honor for best-decorated boat in its class earlier this month, when the group's Chris Craft boat participated in the Sacramento holiday lighted boat parade.

"Me and 'Kitty' (Kathleen Ulshoeffer) decorated it!" she said.

"We've got about seven kids right now, from age 13 to 17, but the program is open to new members," said Skipper Nate Eckler. "We're loosely affiliated with the Boy Scouts. They're our parent organization. We've actually formed our own non-profit organization to hold the boats."

The Sea Scouts meet Wednesday evenings at 7 p.m. on land, and try to get on the water regularly.

"During the winter, it's the same as the rest of the year," said Nate Eckler. "We're looking to take the boats out about two times a month." The group's longest cruise so far has been an 11-hour trip back from Stockton with one of the newly-acquired power boats.

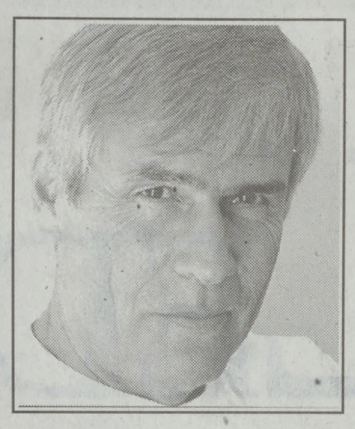
New Year's resolution: clean up the News-Ledger

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

Every year, once the Christmas holidays have passed, I start giving some serious thought to my New Year's resolutions. And even before I start putting pen to paper, I accept the fact that I'm not going to live up to most of them. But it's still fun to give it the old college try, and a few of my favorite New Year's resolutions from the past include the following:

I will no longer spend half-an-hour every morning trying to wake up my three teenage sons so they won't be late for school. If they want to spend all night playing video games and grow up to be as dumb as trees, so be it.

I won't go to any more high school reunions. I mean, how many times must someone be expected to smile and say hi to people who used to make your life miserable?

I will stop suffering fools gladly, even those I'm related to.

I will stop taking every opportunity to save money, the idea being that it will give the kids one less thing to fight about when I'm dead.

I will try to find a way to wash the family dog that ends up with him being wetter than me.

And instead of making lots of grand plans or dwelling on the past and all those things I can't go back and change, I will try to spend more time reflecting on maybe the most important truth of all, that it's all free time.

Anyway, when I made the mistake this past weekend of mentioning to my daughter that I was having a little trouble coming up with any good New Year's resolutions for 2010, she said, "Well, I definitely have one for you!"

"Great," I said. "What is it?"

"Why don't you make a New Year's resolution to clean up the News-Ledger office?"

"Clean up the News-Ledger office?" I asked with surprise.

"That's right, and I'm talking the whole place — from the ceiling to the floor – and especially the bathroom!"

"But you haven't been inside the News-Ledger in ages," I reminded my daughter. "It could be the cleanest office in all of West Sacramento for all you know."

When my daughter finally stopped laughing, she said, "Dad, you and Steve are two of the biggest slobs I know, so I will bet you any amount of money you want that your office is still as gross as it was the last time I was in it. Plus I drove past it just last week to see if you were there and even from my car I could see that the window blinds were still covered with years of dust and dirt. If you ask me, you're lucky the city's hazardous waste people don't march over there and shut the place down!"

"But Steve and I clean up the office every now and then," I assured my daughter. "Plus the newspaper business has always been a dirty profession with ink and old papers and everything."

"Do you ever even vacuum the place?"

"Well, no, but that's only because you and your mother won't let us borrow your vacuum cleaners anymore."

"And for good reason! You've got decade-old dirt in there, and no one wants their own home vacuum cleaner plowing through it! Lord only knows what kind of germs are happily multiplying away in all that filth. Do you ever even dust?"

"Well, no, but we do take a broom and knock down some of the spider cobwebs now and then?"

"Have you ever cleaned the windows or the blinds?"

"No, we figure that's the responsibility of the landlord."

"Then has the landlord ever dropped by and cleaned the windows the blinds?"

"Not yet."

"And do you know why that is?"

"No."

"It's because you, and not your landlord, are supposed to clean your own windows and blinds!"

"Really?"

"Do you and Steve ever even clean off your desks?"

"Well, now we did do that once, but a bunch of really important stuff got lost, so we don't do that anymore."

"Now here's the important question, Dad. How often do you guys clean your bathroom?"

"Well, since only Steve and I use it, we figure……."

"You never clean it, do you?"

"I wouldn't exactly say `never'."

"You usually don't even have hand towels or toilet paper in there, do you, Dad?"

"Hey," I said, "you don't exactly have the cleanest bathroom in West Sacramento, either, you know!"

"But I don't risk death from infectious disease by just stepping into mine like you and Steve do when you step into yours!"

"Okay, okay," I admitted, "the News-Ledger office probably does need to be cleaned up a bit, and I'll put it down as one of my New Year's resolutions. There, now does that make you happy?"

"No," said my daughter with emphasis, "I will be happy when I can actually bring your grandsons over to visit you at work someday without having to first make sure that all three of us are up-to-date on all our shots!"

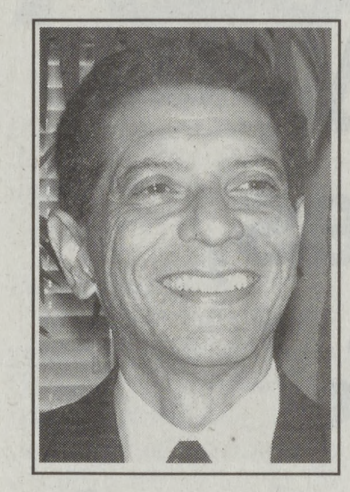
SPORTS INSIDER



By Rich Novoa

The young Run & Gun Sacramento Kings (14-16) are capturing the hearts of the national media and basketball fans in general all around the NBA with their new energetic and entertaining style of basketball. If you haven't been watching the Kings and you like NBA basketball, do yourself a favor and tune in because the Kings are on the road to the playoffs.

Yes, I said it! As it stands today the Kings are only three games out of the sixth spot for the playoffs behind teams like Houston, Portland, San Antonio and Utah. Ok, it maybe a little early to sell playoff tickets but with the return of Martin and Garcia and maybe a surprise trade in February the Sacramento Kings could make a nice run at the 2010 playoffs.

The Kings, who have equaled their total home wins (11) from last season, lost twice at home in overtime to the NBA's two best teams when they let the Cavs beat them 117-104 on Wednesday night and then on Saturday night, the Kings gave Kobe a late Christmas present by letting the Lakers slip out of Sacramento with a 112-103 double-overtime win.

In my opinion, the Kings lost those games because of their lack of experience on the court in the final minutes plus they need another shooter, like Kevin Martin, to close out their opponents at crunch time. In both losses the Kings had rookie Tyreke Evans, who is having a great season, trying to out-maneuver two of the best defenders in the NBA, in LeBron James and Kobe Bryant, for a winning basket. Evans is a good player but not that good!

The Kings had two opportunities to close out to victories against the Cavs and in the Lakers loss they were outscored 11-2, in the second extra period but do not fear the Kings are starting to make every game count and coach Westphal is doing a wonderful job with his roster. Remember, their top scorer Kevin Martin will be returning to the line-up in January. Happy New Year, Kings!

Kings Korner

The Kings, who are trying hard to attract fans to their games, next two promotions are on Wednesday, Dec. 30th featuring a Tyreke Evans jersey and a face to face meeting with Donte Greene. If you purchase two seats in the lower bowl starting at $140 per seat for the Kings vs. 76ers game on December 30th you'll receive a free Tyreke Evans replica jersey and if you're one of the first 100, Evans will sign it for you.

Also, the Sacramento Kings first-ever Social Media Night presented by Verizon Wireless is a special event for the team's fans on Twitter and Facebook. It was a huge success selling out because fans received a special ticket offer to the Kings-Sixers game and a chance to meet Donte' Greene before the game. The 100 spots made available for the special event sold out in less than two days.

OK, let's see if these promotions help sell-out the Arco Arena this week when the Kings host the 76ers on Wednesday, Dec. 30th (7 p.m.-CSNCA) before they travel south on I-5 for their rematch with Kobe Bryant and the Lakers next year.

Maybe Ron Artest has recovered from the concussion he received falling down his stairs on Christmas to play on New Year's Day (7:30 p.m.-CSNCA) when the Kings visit the Staple Center. The Kings will return home next year Saturday, January 2, 2010 to play Dallas followed by another tough game against the free shooting Phoenix Suns on Tuesday, Jan 5th.

NFL week 17

The NFL regular season finishes up this week with the playoff scenario pretty much set except for the final brackets to be decided by a few match ups and of course the 49ers (7-8) and the Raiders (5-10) are not included in the post season.

NFC playoff field is set with the first round Bye going to the Saints holding the first seed while the Eagles and Cowboys fight it out for the East Division Championship and the second seed. The Packers, Cardinals and Vikings are in but need to win to position themselves for their wild-card opponents.

The AFC race is still up for grabs but the Colts have the home field advantage and the Chargers also earned a first round bye. Seven of the conference's teams entering the final week of the regular season still have playoff hopes. The Jets, Broncos, Ravens, Texans and the Steelers have 8-7 records while the Dolphins and Jags are 7-8 with a chance to cash in a pair of wild-card tickets.

So don't get stuck watching the 49ers at St. Louis (10 a.m.-FOX) or the Raiders at home against Baltimore (blackout) because there will be plenty at stake, in both conferences, in Week 17.

Aztec's Picks

My dog had another tuff week going 2-3 but his record is still a respectable 39-37-1 entering the final week of the NFL regular season and College Bowl games. I don't blame Aztec because he doesn't understand why playoff bound teams rest their star players which in turn affects the outcome of the games and most importantly, the point spread, making it almost impossible to figure out who has the advantage.

So for that reason I restricted my dog from scratching out NFL games from the sports page so this week it will be strictly "College Bowl" week and he'll return next week for the NFL playoffs.

In the Holiday Bowl in San Diego, Aztec likes Arizona in a pick'em game against Nebraska and you know he loves the Stanford Tree so take the Cardinal (+10) and the points against Oklahoma. The Sugar Bowl will feature Tim Tebow in his last college game so Florida (-10) will go out in style against Cincinnati, who's head coach ran off to Notre Dame two weeks ago.

My dog really likes horses so take the Boise State Broncos (+8) against another undefeated team in the TCU Horned Frogs at the Fiesta Bowl but Aztec has been drooling over the Ducks in his "College Lick of the Week" so take Oregon (-3 ½) against the Ohio State Buckeyes at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

Enjoy your day – Happy New Year!

More on the monument:

Two weeks ago, the News-Ledger reported about the new "gateway" monument near the foot of the I Street Bridge. The torch-shaped statue marks the edge of the "Washington" neighborhood of West Sacramento.

Here's a correction, plus a little more information not available at the time of the article:

The News-Ledger reported that the land for the site had been donated by developer John Leonard. That wasn't correct.

The 400 square feet of land are owned by the city, but were subject by a lease to developer Buzz Oates for parking spaces. The city renegotiated that lease, moving the parking spaces two another spot on the site. Leonard had sold the associated building (which includes retail and affordable housing) to Oates, but has the option to repurchase it, said Les Bowman of the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency.

The monument itself cost about $250,000 in funds from the redevelopment agency, he said.

"Originally, the monument was conceived as twin monuments on either side of the intersection," Bowman said in an email. "Cost considerations and conflicts with the River's Side project and traffic signal and electrical utilities required rethinking the project."

FREE RECYCLING:

Think twice before you throw those batteries, fluorescent bulbs & electronics into the trash

From the County of Yolo

With the holiday season underway , Yolo County reminds residents there are free collection sites for Universal Waste, which is illegal to throw in the trash. "Universal waste" refers to the most common and "universally" available hazardous household products including electronic waste such as televisions, computers and microwaves as well as fluorescent lights, household batteries, cell phones and mercury-containing devices. Not only is it illegal to throw universal waste in the trash, but when improperly disposed, universal waste may pose a risk to human health and the environment.

"It is important at this time of year when households typically have more trash, that residents shop wisely and properly manage universal waste," says Marissa Juhler, Yolo County Waste Reduction and Sustainability Manager. "We encourage residents to buy electronics from companies that take them back for recycling and to bring batteries, cell phones, fluorescent lights and other products to our free collection events at the Yolo County Central Landfill and various retail locations throughout the County." For more information on universal waste recycling in Yolo County, go to www.yolocounty.org/index.aspx?page=437.

Consumers can reduce battery waste by replacing alkaline batteries with rechargeable batteries in electronic toys and gadgets. Rechargeable batteries can be recharged many times and then recycled throughout Yolo County. To find a local battery and cell phone recycling site, Juhler suggests Yolo County residents visit the Rechargeable Battery Recycling Corporation's website at www.call2recycle.org and input their zip code to find a location nearby.

Even popular consumer items such as singing greeting cards, light-up shoes and talking toys may have batteries, which means they can't be disposed in the trash. These items aren't hazardous themselves, but the batteries cannot be landfilled.

"We encourage consumers to consider the lifecycle impacts of the things they buy and to ask manufacturers to 'design it green and take-it-back' at the end-of-life," says Heidi Sanborn, Executive Director of the California Product Stewardship Council (CPSC). CPSC is a non-profit organization that educates consumers, businesses and policy makers about the economic and environmental benefits of increasing stewardship by the producers of products. CPSC's consumer webpage www.calpsc.org/consumer/index.html includes information to help consumers make eco-friendly purchasing decisions and suggests ways consumers can advocate for product stewardship. CPSC is a partner in Yolo County's Household Hazardous Waste Grant awarded by the California Integrated Waste Management Board.

The Yolo County Central Landfill is located at 44090 County Road 28H in Woodland and is open seven days a week, Monday through Saturday from 6:30 a.m. to 4 p.m., and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The landfill will be closed Christmas Day and New Year's Day. The landfill's automated phone system (530-666-8729) offers details about the County's e-waste and universal waste recycling programs and provides directions.

Get paid to save money on your gas bill

Pacific Gas and Electric Company has announced the launch of its annual Winter Gas Savings Program, where all eligible customers who reduce their cumulative gas usage during January and February will receive an automatic bill credit.

Customers who reduce usage up to ten percent will receive an equal percentage credit on their spring gas bill. For example, a customer who reduces their usage by 2 percent will receive a 2 percent credit. Customers who reduce their gas usage by ten percent or more will automatically receive a 20 percent credit. Last year, more than 2.3 million customers reduced their gas usage and earned bill credits totaling $59 million.

Customers can take simple steps to reduce their gas consumption:

-- Lower the thermostat to 68 degrees during the daytime (health permitting)

-- Set the water heater to 120 degrees or the "normal" setting

-- Wash clothes in cold water versus hot

-- Open blinds and drapes on sunny days

-- Microwave small amounts of food instead of heating them up in the oven

Customers can find informative tips, tools and resources to help conserve gas by visiting, www.pge.com/wintergassavings. Customers can also calculate their savings and send an "Appliance-Gram" to friends to help them discover ways to save natural gas and money this winter.

Some of that holiday 'trash' can be recycled

From the City of West Sacramento

Did you know that from Thanksgiving to the New Year Americans throw away an estimated 25% more trash than any other time of the year? Do your part to reduce holiday waste by following these simple holiday recycling tips:

-- Wrapping paper, cardboard boxes, shirt boxes, greeting cards, and beverage containers may all be recycled curbside in your recycling cart. Please flatten boxes to save space.

-- Christmas Trees may be recycled curbside by cutting them into 3 foot sections and placing them inside or next to your yard waste cart, or they may be taken to the following locations:

1. Yolo County Central Landfill. Free drop off. Call for hours and directions: (530) 666-8729

2. Whitey's Jolly Kone, 1300 Jefferson Blvd, Saturday, January 9th, 11:00 am to 3:00 pm. Donations are accepted and benefit Cub Scout Pack 49.

Did you get a new Computer, TV, clock radio, or other electronic item? Get rid of the old one the right way and recycle it! Free recycling options are available to West Sacramento residents. Visit www.WestSacRecycles.org or call the Recycling Division at (916) 617-4590.

Remember to recycle the batteries too. To find the nearest battery drop-off location, visit www.WestSacRecycles.org or call the Recycling Division at (916) 617-4590.

Before you recycle all of those gift catalogs, take a minute to pick out the ones you don't want to receive anymore. Call their toll-free numbers NOW and ask to be removed from their mailing list.

Holiday Schedule

Garbage, recycling, yard waste, and used motor oil collection will NOT occur on the following holidays:

Christmas Day – Friday, 12/25/09

These holidays will result in a one day change to your service day. If your regular service day falls on Friday - Christmas and New Year's Day, it will be moved to Saturday. Service for the following Mondays will not be disrupted, nor will the service days prior to the holidays.

City Hall Closure

City Hall, 1110 W Capitol Ave will be closed December 24, 2009 until January 4, 2010. Curbside services will be performed on your regular service day with the exception of the holiday schedule. THE YOLO INDEPENDENT — FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1921.

WINE GRAPES BRING BIG PRICES IN THE EASTERN STATES

Last shipments of late grapes from the Concord district were made during the week when 15 cars of Cornichons were sent out over the San Francisco and Sacramento railroad, billed for points east of Chicago and New York. Wine grape shipments totaling more than 200 carloads were shipped east from Concord, Meinert, Alamo and Danville, and wine grape growers announce that all records for prices and quality of the grapes were broken. Average sales of the wine grapes netted the groewrs $150 per ton.

Several large vineyards had been uprooted following the announcement that the prohibition law would result in a slackening of the demand for wine grapes and much disappointment was expressed by the growers who acted on the impulse and destroyed their vineyards. With the high price promising to prevail again next season vine men were making active preparation for the most careful cultivation of their stock in order to increase the yield and improve the quality of the fruit.

BRYTE IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN SATURDAY NIGHT

The first dance of this winter season will be given by the Bryte Improvement Club at the Public school building next Saturday evening.

This will be the first of a series of dances that the Improvement Club will give during the winter season for the purpose of raising funds to pay for a lot on which a Town Hall is to be built subsequently.

There are few communities that are united wholeheartedly as that of Bryte. Every resident of the district joins in when anything is to be done for the improvement of the district and although there are only a few who can afford to contribute lavishly everybody does his share with the result that remarkable things that have been accomplished in the district.

The dances given by the Bryte Improvement Club are mostly of the country type wherein everybody meets his friends and there are no petty jealousies or no attempts at style. Everybody is welcome as long as they behave themselves and the glad hand of good fellowship reaches out from every corner.

The series of dances to be given this year will wind up with a grand masquerade on New Year's night when it is estimated the necessary amount will be raised to pay for the lot for the Town Hall.

The committee of the Club having there dances under its charge consists of B. Anater R. Lee, E. C. White, C. Noyes, F. Murray, H. L. Freeze, A. Treloar and H. C. Bell.

At next Saturday nights dance there will be refreshments for the ladies and cigars for the men.

WILKES PLAYERS WILL PRESENT "REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM"

The Wilkes Players are delighting large audiences this week at the Seventh Street playhouse in the delightfully different comedy "The Ruined Lady," for the coming week an elaborate production of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" will be the offering. The play is in five acts of strong dramatic heart interest and comedy of the rural New England type.

Perhaps the most lovable girl heroine of the last two decades is the little New England miss, Rebecca. The drama sets forth the adventures of Rebecca from the time of her arrival at the home of her aunts, Miranda and Jane Sawyer, to the dawn of womanhood and the birth of love in her heart. Her pranks, her charm, her adventures, her mishaps, the comedies of New England life.

Manager Parvin will present this play with a wealth of scenery and realistic effects. Dora Clemant, Brady Kline, Evelyn Hambly, Sydney Riggs and all the favorites will be seen in the cast.

OIL DRILLING HELD UP BY LOSS OF BIT

Woodland, Nov. 7.—Drilling on one of the old projects in the Western Yolo field has been halted by an unusual accident.

After getting down 1,200 feet, the crew lost a bit. Then a fishing expedition started. The work is now stopped to fish out the fishing apparatus.

RICE HARVESTING WILL BE COMPLETE THIS WEEK

Continuation of favorable weather conditions, which have prevailed in the last few weeks, will see at least 70 per cent of the 1921 rice crop in the warehouses. This is according to growers, who are now engaged earnestly in harvesting the crop.

The crop is reported spotted, and it is predicted by those in close touch with the situation, that it is doubtful if it will run 3,000,000 bags.

The early prediction was for a 4,000,000 bag crop, but threshing observations have disproved this. It is said that in many localities the rice has not headed as expected, and is running lighter per acre than predicted.

Unfavorable early growing conditions, and careless planting in which the use of poor seed was used, have combined, it is said, to materially reduce the yield this season.

There is said to be virtually no market at this time, and outside of one or two early sales at three cents or thereabouts, offers now are ranging materially below that figure. Rice growers declare the market has not yet been established, and no prediction as to a market is ventured now.

YOLO DOG OWNERS HAVE ORGANIZED CLUB

Woodland, Nov. 8.—If you have a hound dog that would like to chase the festive rabbit, the Superior California Coursing Club is anxious to have you become a member that the coming season may be full of sport for those who derive pleasure out of this particular game. A number of the local greyhound owners have gotten together and organized a club with the following membership: Kier Snavely, Dobie Strong, Lawrence Mezger, Ernest Mezger, "Brick" McNeill, John Walker, James Longrus, Phillip Hollingsworth, and H. C. Hinckley. Last year some good matches were held in and about Yolo county. This year it is planned to make the sport worth while to those who enjoy it. Snavely is head of the local club and will take in memberships.

Human life is so cheap now that nobody hesitates to kill.

The sob-sisters and the long haired men will make a pet of you if you can only kill some poor devil.

BABY'S DEATH CAME AFTER MANY MONTHS' SICKNESS

Last Sunday the five mnoths old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johnson whose home is on Fourth St. near Mary St. passed away after a prolonged sickness.

The child had been delicate since his birth with no particular ailment except that it lacked vitality.

Although seven more children of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson survive it the parents feel his loss greatly. The baby's name was Rodney Johnson.

Last Tuesday the child was buried in the family plot at Grass Valley where the remains were shipped by the undertaking firms of Miller and Shelton of Sacramento.

A Sacramento jewder said the other day that Christmas shopping was already quite lively.

Why shouldn't it be? The United States mails are fruitful sources of revenue for the purchase of diamonds and other costly gifts.

Reports are being published that there is a possibility Mrs. Annette Adams may be named federal judge for the Northern District of California.

What a joke. Where are the children?

GUEST COMMENTARY:

Goodbye to 'twenty ought nine'

Time for some "bookkeeping," of the calendar variety:

Tomorrow ends the year 2009. According to a lot of people, it will bring the decade to a close, too. But that doesn't make a lot of sense, really, because the first decade on our calendar started with the year one (not the year "zero") and ended with the year 10. So each successive decade follows suit: the '90s began, really, in 1991 and ended in 2000.

This decade, and the new millennium, didn't begin in the year 2000 ("Y2K"), but in 2001. This decade ends with 2010.

The good news is that if the new decade is still a year away, we have another year to think about what to call the one we're in. Clearly, we had the '70s, the '80s and the '90s. What is this, the "oughts?" As in "twenty ought one, twenty ought two. . .?" Can't we do any better than that?

You may also place your bets on how we will pronounce some of the coming years. One school opts for saying, "two thousand and ten," while another goes for "twenty ten." What do you think?

Whatever we call next year, much of the U.S. and the world will be happy to see "two thousand and nine" say goodbye. It was a bad year for the economy – in terms of the GDP or the unemployment rate, or however you want to use statistics to measure it. Numbers aside, the "economy" is ultimately about us: how we are faring, how we are prospering, and how well we feel we're living. The economy did not do well in 2009. You can probably feel that without consulting any statistics at all.

Here in West Sacramento, the unemployment rate is higher than it is statewide or nationally – it's in the teens.

The economists and pundits tell us we can't expect a miracle in 2010 ("two thousand ten"?), but we can look for modest improvement. We can hope for hope.

Meanwhile, we're all still here, and as long as we're here, we have hope enough.

Happy New Year, and here's to a little bit more of the good life in "twenty ten"!

The News-Ledger hasn't read the federal health care reform bill, and has no idea how "good" it is. The News-Ledger does get a kick out of some of the buzzwords being thrown around, to great effect, by many of our best and brightest. Catch-phrases like "government takeover." Or "socialism": a word that is always pronounced with fear and indignation. "Socialism" is one of those words that is used with great verbal flourish – just by saying it, you have proven your point and can now rest your case.

Gee. "Socialized Healthcare." We may have to add that to Social Security, MediCare and other "forms of socialism."

Some of these other forms: socialized roads, socialized defense, socialized drinking water, socialized garbage collection, socialized law enforcement, socialized fire protection and socialized sewers.

Or our "socialized education" -- that thing we used to call "public education."

Here in West Sacramento, what we really have is the "Washington Unified Socialized School District." After all, local property owners are forced to join state and federal taxpayers in paying for WUSSD whether they want to or not, even if they have no children to use these schools. Socialism!

Many of our highest elected leaders are no doubt working to repeal "socialized education" even as we speak (at least, they would be if they truly want to be consistent).

It makes the head spin.

The News-Ledger hopes that 2010 will be the year in which we Americans can debate at least one (1) important issue with the seriousness and thoughtfulness it deserves.

Just one.

Letters to the Editor

Animal shelters need your help

The Yolo County Sheriff's Department Animal Services Section would like to thank the community for their support for shelter animals. Nearly 6,000 lost or homeless animals were housed and cared for in Yolo County last year. Our community's generosity helps in many ways to make the shelter the best it can be. During this season of thanksgiving and sharing we hope you will not forget the homeless animal shelter animals of Yolo County.

During the holidays, donations of pet food, toys, new or used towels and blankets may be dropped off at Pet Factory or the Pet Extreme in Woodland and SPCA Thrift Store or Petco in Davis.

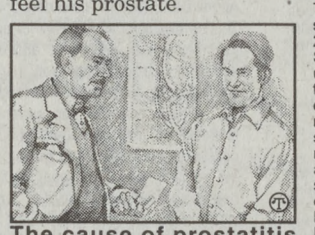
Health Awareness

Men, Could That Pain Be Your Prostate?

(NAPS)—Prostatitis—swelling of the prostate—affects mostly young and middle-aged men and is often painful. According to researchers, about 10 to 12 percent of men have prostatitis-like symptoms, such as painful or burning urination.

What You Should Know

To tell if the prostate—a walnut-sized gland at the base of a man's bladder—is swollen, a doctor checks its size by putting a gloved finger into the man's rectum to feel his prostate.



The cause of prostatitis can be unclear. Consult your doctor to find the best treatment.

What to Do

Doctors use medicine to treat prostatitis caused by bacteria. But medicine will not help prostatitis caused by something other than bacteria. The cause of prostatitis is often unclear, and symptoms can come and go over time. Changing one's diet or taking warm baths may help ease symptoms. Each man should work with his doctor to find the best treatment for his condition.

PUBLIC NOTICE TO WAVE BROADBAND CUSTOMERS

In February, Wave's video rates will be adjusted to offset a small portion of the ever-increasing programming fees Wave incurs from the networks carried on our system. We work diligently to minimize these costs on behalf of our customers. Unfortunately, the cable networks have once again dramatically increased their fees. We will absorb much of the increase, and minimize the price adjustments to our video products and services. Some fees and taxes may also be adjusted at this time. Further details, including money-saving bundle options, will be sent out by mail. Thank you for choosing Wave Broadband. 1-866-WAVE-123
